

Anna Across Africa

anna across africa

Morocco
Western Sahara
Mauritania
Mali
Niger
Senegal
Burkina Faso
Benin
Nigeria
Togo Ghana
Cameroon
Equatorial Guinea
Sudan
Ethiopia
Uganda
Kenya
Democratic Republic of Congo
Tanzania
Gabon
Congo
Angola
Zambia
Malawi
Namibia
South Africa

anna across africa

1 auto • 2 lidé • 60 000 km

JS FOTO
GRAFICKÉ STUDIO

Middle East: Syria and Saudi Arabia

Palmyra, old famous ruins in Syria

Jeddah, big harbor in Saudi Arabia from which we cross to Sudan

Sudan

In Sudan the desert is everywhere

Pyramids of Meroe, old and abandoned ruins of ancient kingdoms

Ethiopia

Famous Blue Nile waterfalls

Unknown woman - poor but smiling:
this is what we, Europeans should learn,

Ethiopia

The wet season was already there which made the journey more difficult

There are national parks where one can see various animals

Kenya

Terrible northern desert of Kenya - sand, powder, bumps, heat and shifta

The desert is sometimes rocky which is even more dangerous for the car - here the shock absorber was damaged

Kenya

11

The desert has no end

12

A Samburu woman, a tribe who lives in northern desert is famous for their dressing

Kenya

We took a soldier who was hitch-hiking so we felt slightly safe - though the soldier said he has never used his weapon yet.

The desert is behind us, Elementaita lake in central Kenya

Kenya

A Maasai man is walking on the ground of a drying out lake

Elementaita lake is full of flamingos

Uganda

17

Typical ugandian road - in wet season impassable

18

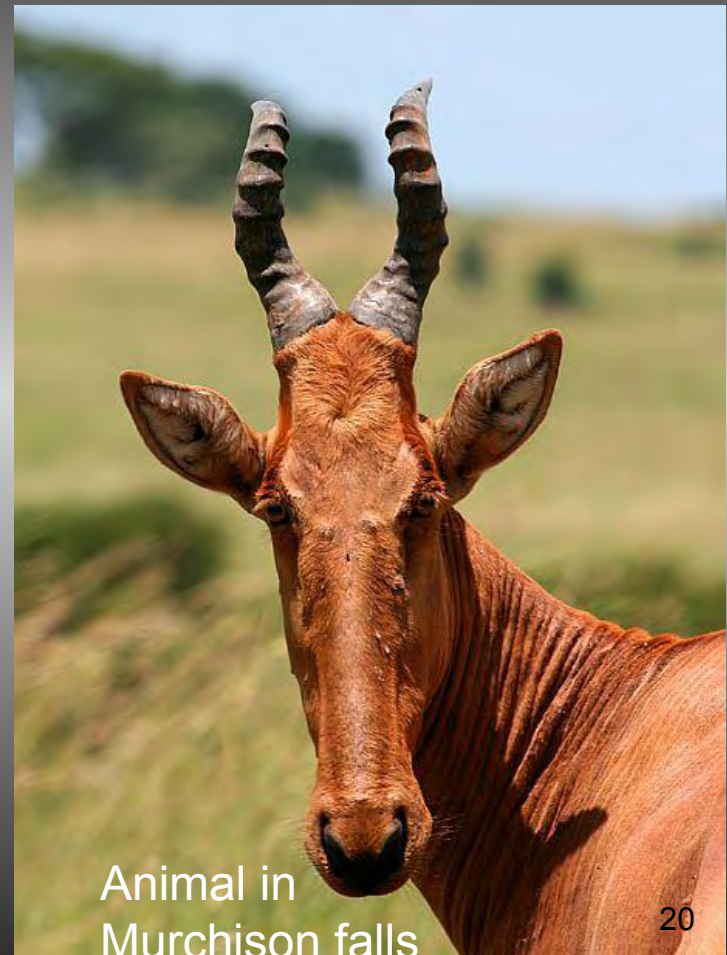

Sipi waterfalls in National Park

Uganda

19

Murchison National Park - people must cross river to get to their homes

20

Animal in Murchison falls National Park

Uganda

21

Somewhere among the houses this is how we camp

22

People loading bananas that is very important plant

Tanzania

23

Typical view: an acacia and Mt. Meru

24

Kilimanjaro, the highest mountain of Africa. Very often hidden in clouds.

Tanzania

Women walking dressed in their typical piece of colorful cloth

Typical way of selling

Tanzania – Zanzibar

A typical village at Zanzibar, an island beloved by tourist

Zanzibar is famous for its beaches

Tanzania – Zanzibar

Kids in Stone Town, a town protected by UNESCO

Fishermen in the morning sunrise

Malawi

Papaya is grown everywhere

Malawi is made of Malawi lake where people find their way of living. Boys must learn how to fish from the childhood.

Zambia

Men selling the meat along the road

Women usually take care of fetching water

Namibia

Himba girl, a tribe living in the north

Quiver tree is a fantastic subject for photographers

Namibia

37

Anna going through water

38

Donkeys are more typical than cars

Namibia

Etosha National Park where various animals can be seen

Namibia

Namib-Naukluft is the oldest desert in the world

Namibia

The car was broken, the crankshaft was damaged. The entire engine must have been taken out and repaired. It took 40 days to be back on the road

Namibia

Skeleton Coast is wide and abandoned place where wind blows all the time and the weather is freezing. That is why the sailors from wrecked ships could not survive.

Sossusvlei in Namib-Naukluft National Park

Namibia

47

Atlantic ocean is very cold inviting only birds to swim

48

Ghost town in Kolmanskop which is being swallowed by desert.

Namibia

It is easy to get stuck in sand

Road to Kolmanskop, a town being swallowed by desert.

South Africa

Us two at the famous Cape of Good Hope

Typical view - water pump

Angola

Angola has gone through 40 years long civil war. It can be seen everywhere.

People were very poor, but friendly and happy the war was over.

Angola

Combination of war and rain makes the roads impassable. They are certainly the worse in entire Africa.

Angola

Beautiful unknown black beauty

Unlike in cities there is no rubbish in villages.

Democratic republic of Congo

Transport is a big problem. People must use what is available. That is why the cars are always overloaded by people.

People were curious and staring at us. Tourist do not normally go to Congo.

Congo – Brazzaville

Congo river is very wide. People use it for bathing.

Congo – Brazzaville

Contrasts: somewhere in the village in forest contra the capital of Brazzaville

Gabon

Deep forest where one can find people who raise monkeys.

Gabon

One can buy crocodile or monkey along the road - for only 10 U.S. Dollars!

Gabon

69

Trucks overloaded by fine wood are the most common sight on the roads.

70

Anna crossing equator

Gabon

Chinese are building roads in exchange for raw materials

Deep forests are eaten by road constructions and oil pipes.

Equatorial Guinea

In the sixties and seventies church was abolished and priests were killed. Nowadays church becomes again very strong. New churches are seen everywhere.

Houses are simple but clean, made of wood

Cameroon

A road to the depth of forest - on the way to visit mythical Pygmeys.

The reality of Pygmeys is less mythical - TV, T-shirts with european football players and catholic mission.

Cameroon

77

The way women carry heavy bags

78

The way women get food in cities

Nigeria

Capital Abuja, a market in front of a mosque. Here one can buy witchcraft

One of the local chiefs waiting for a sultan.

Nigeria

City of Kano in the north is famous for its indigo cloth.

You would not guess - they are ironing.

Nigeria

Street art.

Niger

85

Niger is a desert country where caravanas still exist

86

Technics, roads and cars fight against the weather, landscape and Nature.

Niger

87

Us among the street sellers.

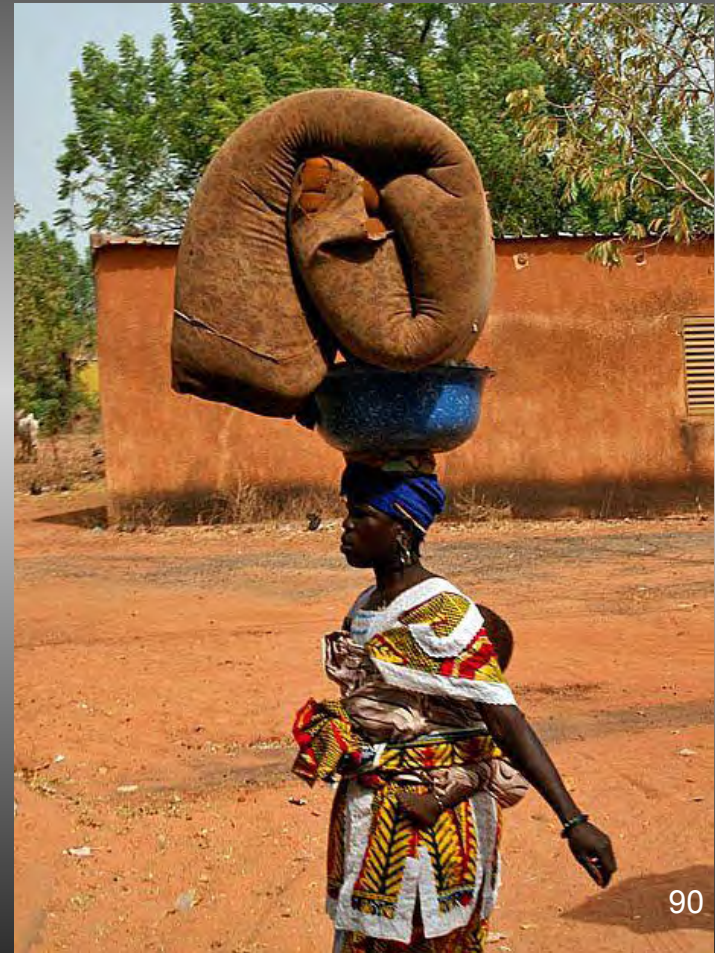

88

Sultan's wives are bringing a new married woman to sultan to spend a night with her. That is the rule.

Niger

Agadez, a desert town has wonderful atmosphere.

Women's skills are amazing

Benin and Togo

Warning - but no elephants occurred.

A girl selling sweets. They are everywhere. It is difficult to refuse them.

Benin and Togo

Memorials dedicated to slaves.

Benin and Togo

95

96

Ganvie, a village called African Venezia, is often visited by tourists. People live above the water which makes the life interesting but difficult.

Ghana

Mole National Park offers a waterhole where many elephants come to bath.

Ghana

99

Cape Coast is one of the forts from where black slaves were shipped to America. Very dark part of history.

100

Ghana

Boats used for fishing are painted

Larabanga, one of the oldest mosques in Africa, supposedly 600 years old.

Ghana

103

Ghanian kids wear pink uniforms

104

Inside of a typical village house where cattle is kept

Burkina Faso

a woman in her house

the way of selling is sometimes very rude

Mali

107

Dogon country is a special place in Mali

108

Beautiful mud mosque in Djenné is a masterpiece of islam architecture in Africa

Senegal

109

Where is the sea there are beautiful boats

110

This is how we camp among other tourist. Senegal is already very civilised and full of adventurers

Mauretanie

111

Nomad's tents in a desert

112

Camels freely on the pasture

Western Sahara

Comfortable asphalt road goes along the entire Western Sahara as morrocan government wants to conquest the place

Small spots of human habitat in the middle of desert

Morocco

Beautiful roads in the Atlas mountains.
Unforgettable; peace, blue sky and mystical faces of people

Old city of Fez is full of tourist but under the touristic face the real warm cultural heart still beats

It was lovely journey, Africa.

Thank you

The End